William Blair Large Cap Growth SMA

Why Active in Large Cap?

Concentrated, High-Conviction Portfolios

Passive investors invest in an entire index, without consideration of business fundamentals or stock valuations. We believe it is more beneficial to be selective and invest in a smaller number of quality growth companies that maximize risk/return potential. Active managers can deviate from the index, which may offer opportunities to preserve capital in down markets and generate alpha over time.

Why the William Blair Large Cap Growth SMA?

Identifying Growing Companies Provides Alpha Potential

- Our quality growth approach emphasizes identifying growing companies in growing industries—what we call structurally advantaged companies—whose long-term outlook is underappreciated by the market.
- We seek growing companies that can sustain an increasing share of industry profits over a three to five year horizon.
- Identifying and investing in structurally advantaged companies is the primary way we seek to add value over time.

Focus on Growing Industries

- Our in-depth research is focused on companies that compete in industries that we believe can grow at least as fast as the overall economy—preferably faster.
- We evaluate long-term secular drivers to gain confidence in the durability of an industry while staying mindful that some industries will have more cyclicality around that long-term growth trajectory.

Robust Risk Management

- We invest in a concentrated portfolio of structurally advantaged companies, whose quality characteristics have historically provided inherent downside protection.
- While concentrated by number of stocks, we seek to minimize non-stock specific risk by managing a generally sector and market cap neutral portfolio.
- We believe this approach delivers a differentiated large-cap portfolio with diverse growth drivers and may provide a smoother ride for investors with the potential for outperformance.

We Seek to Exploit Two Primary Market Inefficiencies

Traditional Quality Growth

Companies whose growth is faster and/or more durable than the market appreciates due to most investors' shorter-term focus

Fallen Quality Growth

Companies exhibiting non-linear growth or facing a short-term issue that causes investors who have less extensive knowledge of the company to overreact

Important Disclosures

William Blair Investment Management (“William Blair”) acts as a discretionary investment manager or non-discretionary model provider in a variety of separately managed account or wrap fee programs sponsored by financial intermediaries. When acting as a discretionary investment manager, William Blair is responsible for making and implementing all investment decisions in accounts. When acting as a non-discretionary model provider, William Blair provides investment recommendations (in the form of model portfolios) to financial intermediaries who may or may not, in their sole discretion, utilize such recommendations in connection with its management of accounts. William Blair does not have investment discretion for model portfolio accounts, and as such, performance or characteristics of these accounts may differ from the composite or representative account information presented.

ESG (environmental, social, governance): an acronym widely used to describe three types of non-financial factors that may affect the financial performance of a company or a security.

Strategy: The Large Cap Growth SMA strategy invests primarily in large-capitalization companies of high quality that demonstrate sustainable growth characteristics.

Risks: The Strategy’s returns will vary, and you could lose money by investing in the Strategy. The Strategy invests most of its assets in equity securities of large cap domestic growth companies where the primary risk is that the value of the equity securities it holds might decrease in response to the activities of those companies or market and economic conditions. Individual securities may not perform as expected or a strategy used by the Adviser may fail to produce its intended result. Different investment styles tend to shift in and out of favor depending on market conditions and investor sentiment, and at times when the investment style used by the Adviser for the Strategy is out of favor, the Strategy may underperform other equity strategies that use different investment styles. The Strategy invests most of its assets in equity securities of domestic growth companies, including common stocks and other forms of equity investments (e.g., convertible securities). Convertible securities are at risk of being called before intended, which may have an adverse effect on investment objectives. To the extent that investments are concentrated amongst a small number of issuers, the strategy may be more susceptible to adverse developments affecting any single issuer. The inclusion of Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) factors beyond traditional financial information in the selection of securities could result in a strategy’s performance deviating from other strategies or benchmarks, depending on whether such factors are in or out of favor. ESG analysis may rely on certain criteria to eliminate exposures found in similar strategies or benchmarks, which could result in performance deviating. The Strategy is not intended to be a complete investment program. The Strategy is designed for long-term investors. Past performance is not indicative of future returns.

Alpha: A measure of a portfolio’s return in excess of the market return, after both have been adjusted for risk.
